Director's Report Fiscal Year 2012

Director's Report

The mission of the Office of Professional Regulation ("OPR") within the Secretary of State's Office is to protect the public from unethical, incompetent or otherwise unprofessional behavior by licensed practitioners in the professions and occupations that are regulated through the OPR; to protect the public from practitioners in these fields who are unauthorized to practice; and to ensure equity in licensing, regulation and discipline by fairly and responsibly administering the rules and statutes pertaining to these professions and occupations.

We could not accomplish this mission without the 30 plus member OPR team. In this report I would particularly like to acknowledge their dedication, professionalism and skill in serving the public as we carry out our public protection duties. Even in the face of many changes in staff, structure, computer systems, and locations in recent years, they carry on and get the work done with barely a complaint. With nearly 60,000 licensees in 45 professions and an ever increasing disciplinary caseload, this group manages an incredibly high volume of transactions in an efficient, timely, and courteous manner. It is my privilege to serve with them.

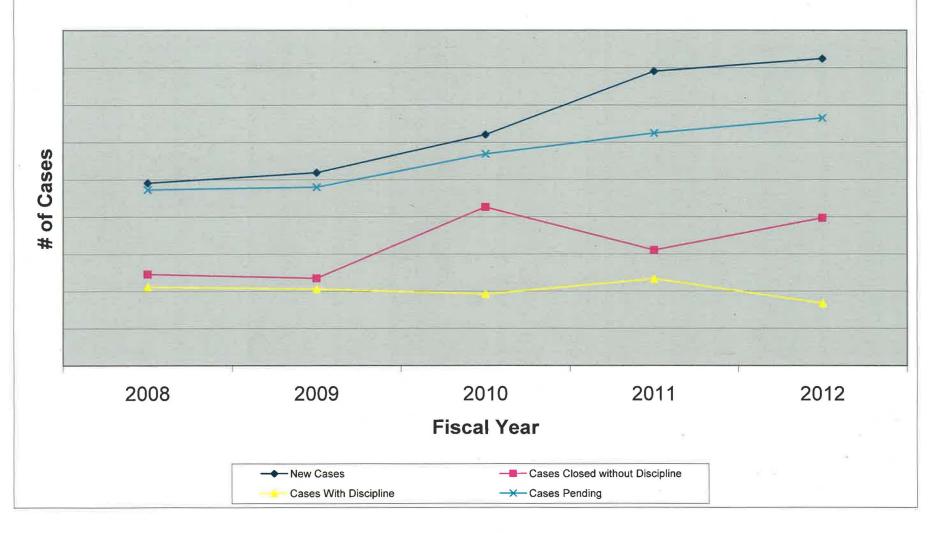

In fiscal year 2012, despite the many challenges listed above, the OPR completed the transition to online renewals for all professions. We were able to advocate for and secure a position for a Pharmacy Board Executive Director who will make a significant contribution to public protection in the rapidly changing arena of prescription drugs. We upgraded eLicense (our electronic licensing and enforcement system) for new functionality and greater efficiency and moved all eLicense servers to a cloud hosted environment for increased reliability. We successfully integrated work force data surveys into online renewals for dentists, nurses and osteopaths to contribute to the betterment of our health care system. We also successfully improved our eLicense reporting capabilities to focus more on workload metrics and identifying measureable processing gaps and reducing application and case processing times. We recently kicked off an initiative for paperless licensure at renewal time to increase our efficiency, reduce costs, and protect the environment. Many of these projects will continue through the next fiscal year.

It is an honor to collaborate with so many dedicated public servants, including the OPR staff, Secretary of State Condos and his administrative team, the House and Senate Government Operations Committees, and the many dedicated volunteers who are board members and advisors for the professions we regulate.

Respectfully submitted,

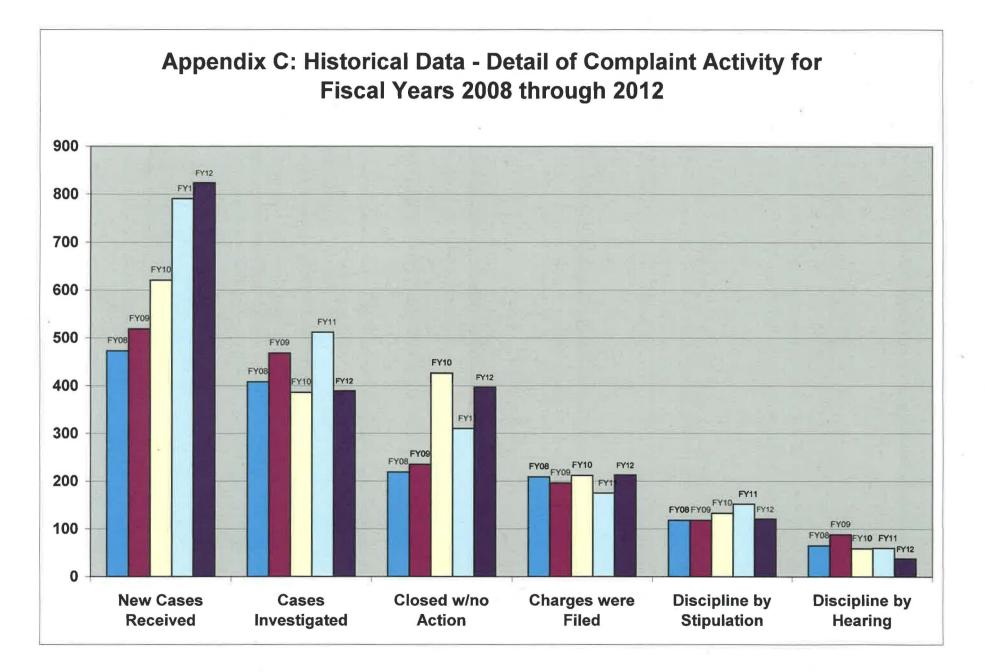

Christopher D. Winters, Director
